About Application Buttons, Navigation, and Softkeys

The display screen has three visible application lines that you use to view and manage your calls, your contacts, your call log, and your options and settings.

- Press the Phone button to view your calls.
- Press the Contacts button to view your Contacts list.
- Press the Call Log button to see a list of your most recent incoming and outgoing calls.

At any time, one of the application lines is highlighted - with white text on a black background. This is the selected line. Use the Up and Down arrows on the navigation keys to select a line by scrolling to it.

The four softkey labels at the bottom of the screen go with the softkeys directly below the screen. They show the available actions for the selected line. Pressing a softkey carries out the action shown on the softkey label.

The OK button is another shortcut that carries out the default action on the selected line. For example, when you select (highlight) an entry in your Contacts list, pressing OK places a call to that person.

About Aux Buttons

Your phone has two rows of extra, auxiliary buttons, or Aux buttons below the softkeys. You can use the Aux buttons for call management, speed dial buttons, or features. The Aux buttons go with the Aux button labels on the bottom two rows of the screen. The Aux button labels show the function of each of the Aux buttons.

There are two sets, or pages, of Aux buttons. Use the Aux Shift button, located to the right of the Aux button labels, to switch between the two pages of Aux buttons.

The particular features available on your Aux buttons depend on how your system administrator has set up your phone. For example, in addition to bridged extensions on your Aux buttons, your administrator may also assign frequently-used features like Send All Calls, Directory/Next/Make Call, or Call Forwarding to Aux buttons.

Each Aux button has an LED, which is illuminated if a call appearance or feature assigned to that button is active. The Aux Shift button also has an LED, which is illuminated if there is a call on one of the Aux buttons on the alternate, "hidden" page.

About Your Telephone Stand

Your telephone can be placed in two positions, a lower position and an upright position. You can adjust the display screen to different angles. To move the display screen, gently pull from the top of the display screen towards you. As you pull the screen towards you, you will hear a clicking sound. Each of these clicks is a locking position for the display screen. Gently push on the display screen to adjust the screen to a previous position.

If your phone is in the upright position, reverse the tab located below the switchhook in the top ear piece pocket (on the front of the phone). This will keep the handset seated in the correct position. You will need a small screwdriver to lift this tab out.

About the Avaya Menu

You can use the Avaya Menu to adjust and customize options and settings for your telephone, access additional Web-based applications, get information about your phone and network settings, and log out. When you press the Avaya Menu button, you see one of the following menus, depending on how your administrator has set up your system and on the applications available to you:

The forwarding features available on your phone depend on the options your system administrator has set. For more information about the options available to you, contact your system administrator.

When Send All Calls (SAC) is on, your incoming calls go directly to a predefined coverage number, typically your voicemail. Incoming calls ring once at your extension and then go directly to a number which is set by your system administrator. If it is already on, pressing the SendAll Aux button turns it off and the checkmark no longer appears. You can also turn Send All Calls on or off by using the telephone Features list.

Aux Buttons and Bridged Lines

You can use the Aux buttons to monitor and manage extensions other than your own. Other people's extensions that you manage from your phone are called bridged lines. If an Aux button is associated with a bridged line, you can press the Aux button to select it as you would with a regular call appearance.

Whenever you need to access a bridged line just press the corresponding Aux button.

- If a line is on Hold, pressing the Aux button resumes the call.

For example, when the bridged extension is in use, and you get an incoming call to that same line, you can conference the caller into the existing call.

The icon on the Aux button label for a bridged call appearance shows the status of that call appearance. An idle call icon  means that there is no current call on that line. An in-use bridged call icon  means that the owner of the line is using it.

Note:

Use the Aux button for anything you need to do with a bridged line - to answer a call, to resume a call on hold, or to join an existing call. Use the Aux button LED and the icon on the Aux button label to view the status of a bridged line.

Answering a call on a bridged line

1. Select the bridged call that you want to answer.

Note:

If you are on another call when a call comes in to a bridged line, you have to select the ringing line (just like for an incoming call to a primary line).

2. Press Answer or press the flashing Aux button.
